

Music for the viola is usually written on the alto clef. This is an example of a C clef; the clef symbol is centred on middle C, in this case on the middle line.

The four strings of the viola, from lowest to highest, sound at C, G, D and A. Each string is a perfect fifth higher than the previous one.

